The image shows a drum score for the 'Jackie-ing' drum intro. It consists of two systems of notation. The first system has three staves labeled 'ride', 'snare', and 'bass/hihat' on the left. The 'ride' staff uses eighth notes with stems pointing down, some with accents. The 'snare' staff uses eighth notes with stems pointing up, some with accents. The 'bass/hihat' staff uses 'x' marks for hi-hat hits and eighth notes for bass drum hits. The second system has two staves, with the top staff continuing the 'ride' and 'snare' parts and the bottom staff continuing the 'bass/hihat' part. A measure rest '5' is placed below the first staff of the second system. The notation includes various rhythmic patterns, including eighth-note runs and accents.
